Copenhagen, June 3.

PReparations are making here for attacking Gottenbourg and Maeſtrand. Beſides three old Ships of War, which are cut down low enough to ſerve for a kind of Batteries, they are building a large Float of great Timber of 160 Foot long, and 18 Foot broad; and 30 Battering-Pieces of Cannon and 20 Mortars are imbarking: All will be ready to ſail under the Command of Admiral Judicher, towards the End of this Month. Major General Arnholdt is gone from hence to bring 16 Batallions from Norway; which 'tis thought are to be employed in the Expedition againſt Gottenbourg. The Swedes on their Side, are drawing Troops together about that Place, to be commanded by General Mörner who was expected there ſoon; they have raiſed Batteries all along on the Coaſts between Elsbourg and Gottenbourg, and are equipping their Fleet at Carlſcroon and their Flotilla at Maeſtrand. Collonel Lewenohr returned from Sweden on the 1ſt Inſtant, and is gone to Day to the King of Denmark who is at Coldingen, to give his Majeſty an Account of his Negotiations at Stockholm.

Hambourg, June 6. Letters from Petersburg of the 19th paſt adviſe, that on the 6th died Peter Petrowitz, only Son of his Czariſh Majeſty, in the 5th Year of his Age; who had been declared Hereditary Prince of Muſcovy, after the ſolemn Renuntiation made by the late Prince Alexius Petrowitz. He was buried on the 7th with great Solemnity, in a Monaſtry about a League from Petersburg, whither his Czariſh Majeſty, the Miniſters of State, and a great Train of Nobility, accompanied the Corpſe, in their Mourning Barges; while the Czarina with divers Ladies remained in her Apartments, bewailing the great Loſs ſuſtained by this unexpected Accident. The Czar has had 11 Children by his preſent Conſort, of which three Princeſſes are yet living; all the reſt dyed young: the eldeſt of theſe Princeſſes is in her 11th Year, and reſembles the Czar very much. The deceaſed Prince Alexius Petrowitz left a Son who is in the 4th Year of his Age. On the 9th a Ship built to carry 90 Guns was launched at Petersburg, on which Occaſion the Court laid aſide Mourning for that Day, and a great Entertainment was prepared on Board the new Ship, where his Czariſh Majeſty treated all thoſe who attended him. The Preparations for War were continued; and they had no Account at Petersburg of the Arrival of the Queen of Sweden's Plenipotentiaries at the Iſle of Aland.

Hague, June 9. The States of the Province of Holland are to aſſemble on the 22d Inſtant. M. Penterriedter, the Emperour's Miniſter to the King of Great Britain, ſets out to Morrow for Vienna. Yeſterday being His Britannick Majeſty's Birth-day, the Earl of Cadogan gave a magnificent Entertainment at his Houſe, and afterwards a Ball; at which appeared the young Britiſh Noblemen and Gentlemen, and all other Perſons of Diſtinction that are here. Count Holſtein, the King of Denmark's Miniſter to the King of Great Britain, arrived here on the 7th Inſtant from England, and Yeſterday proceeded for Hambourg. Prince Kourakin, the Ruſſian Ambaſſadour, has notified in Form to this State the Death of the young Prince, Son of the Czar his Maſter, whereupon the States have by their Deputies made him Compliments of Condolance.

Hanover, May 27, O. S. On the 22d Inſtant Earl Stanhope arrived here. The King is in good Health, and intends to keep his Birth Day at Herenhauſen, and to ſet out the next Day for Pyrmont, to drink the Waters.

Edinburgh, May 26. His Majeſty's Ship the Flamborough, Captain Hildeſley Commander, came into Leith Road laſt Saturday in the Evening. He brought with him a Spaniſh Lieutenant who was taken at Donan Caſtle, and who has given the Lord Carpenter the following Account, viz. That there came but two Frigates, and they brought but 307 Spaniards, being a Detachment of 12 Men per Company of Don Pedro de Caſtro's Regiment of Foot, which conſiſts of 24 Companies, beſides two of Grenadiers out of which none were detached: That they ſailed from Port-Paſſage the 8th of March, N. S. and landed in Kintail the 27th of April, N. S. having not ſeen any of the Spaniſh Fleet in their Way: A Lieutenant Collonel commanded them, with ſix Captains, ſix Lieutenants, and ſix Enſigns: That none elſe came in theſe Frigates but three Lords with their Servants, ſo that what other Rebel Gentlemen are with them muſt have been in the Country before, or have landed in other Places. He ſays they brought 2000 Arms, and he was told had delivered out 400, but he believes not ſo many, for he ſaw few Men with them. The Lieutenant Collonel was aſſured, that 10000 Men were there in Arms ready to join them, but finding very few, he kept the two Frigates there 10 Days reſolving to go off again; tho' at laſt he was prevailed with to ſtay, and to let them ſail. He judges they can have but little Ammunition left, and that thoſe which remain will endeavour to get into the Iſles in order to make their Eſcape. The Lord Carpenter has ſent theſe Particulars, which the Spaniſh Lieutenant appeared to relate freely without any Reſerve, to Major-General Wightman, and ordered him when in Kintail, if the Rebels ſhould be gone to the Iſles, to imbark on his Majeſty's Ships 4 or 500 Men to follow them, under the Command of Collonel Clayton, who was in thoſe Iſles the laſt Rebellion with a Body of Troops. Letters from Inverneſs of the 22d Inſtant, ſay Major-General Wightman was expected there the next Day: And that immediately on his Arrival, the King's Forces would march againſt the Rebels.

The Commiſſioners for Examining and Determining the Debts due to the Army, give Notice to the Officers of the Regiments under-mentioned, which ſerved abroad during the late War, that they have directed the Collonels of the ſaid Regiments, or their Agents, to ſtate the particular Accounts of the ſaid Officers, and alſo of the Troops and Companies of the ſaid Regiments, agreeable to the Regimental State determined by the ſaid Commiſſioners, and to lay them before the Commiſſioners with all convenient Speed: And the ſaid Officers are hereby required, by themſelves, or their lawful Attornies, to adjuſt and ſettle their
